Rep. Joseph R. Garry, Benewah county Democrat, is a member of the Coeur d'Alene Indian tribe. The 46-year-old representative said that he was born in a teepee on a reservation in Benewah county, and the event gave him even more primitive campaign ammunition than the old saw about being born in a log cabin. Garry, a resident of Plummer, and a farmer, was educated in the Sacred Heart mission school at DeSmet, Gonzaga high school, Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kan., and Butler University at Indianapolis and Washington State college. He majored in animal husbandry at Washington State. Garry served in World war II as an infantryman and with the combat engineers in Korea. He is married to an Ogallala Sioux, and has two daughters. Education is his main legislative interest, and Garry is on the State Affairs, Fish and Game, and Reclamation and Irrigation committees.

AMONG NEW OFFICERS of the Ada County Mental Health association elected Thursday at a luncheon meeting in the Elks temple were, left to right, Mrs. Clarence He... director; Mrs. Vic Johnson, campaign chairman, and Mrs. Wallace Pond, president. Johnson will head a fund drive in May for a new mental health clinic.

Occident Club 1956-57

The Club year of 1956-57 drew to a successful conclusion under the leadership of Mrs Hazel Hedges.

Many worthwhile activities were accomplished during the year, of course our pet projects of the Emergency Loan Closet and the Library come first to our minds. The fine committee for the Loan Closet were kept very busy with their acts of mercy. Numerous peices of equipment were added by purchase and by donation. Meridian and the community can be justly proud of this phase of the Occident Club. Miss Ruth Cline our efficient librarian had a most successful year with a record number of books being loaned. The value to the community derived from the Library is far reaching.

Among other worthwhile projects sponsored by the Club were The State School at Nampa, Indian Scholarship-fund, Veterans Hospital, Blood-mobile, Childrens' Aid Society, Girl's State, Girl Scout Camp, Polio, Red Cross, Cancer, and Pennies for Pines.

The Club rooms were rented for numerous community affairs throughout the year as the cheerful atmosphere makes a pleasing setting for many activities.

To add to the safety and convenience of the Club the electrical wiring was improved and a file box was purchased for the safe keeping of records.

For the beauty of the tea table a beautiful silver service was purchased from funds raised throughout the year. This service was the project of Mrs Hedges and is one of which we may be proud for years to come.

The beauty of the club-rooms was greatly enhanced by the labor of love preformed by several industrious members who gave the entire interior a thorough cleaning.

Many worthwhile and enjoyable programs were given throughout the year. In September Hazel Nortman and Charlotte Martell told of Girl State which they had attended at Moscow and thanked the Club for their part in sending them. Mrs E. Tarbet and Mrs C. R. Lowery presented a program on citizenship and Women and the Vote, at the October meeting. The November lesson was on candle making by Faye Creason, she demonstrated many lovely Christmas candles. Following the December pot-luck luncheon Mrs Gillion demonstrated how to make candy wreaths, tin can Christmas trees and other holiday ornaments. The January program was a book review of "The Nun's Story," by Mrs Amy Ambrose. Also in January a public card party was held to promote fellowship as well as for profit. In February Mrs Charles Winkler made her official visit and gave her report. At the same meeting Representative Joseph Garry legislator from Benewah County gave an informative talk on "Indian Affairs", he was well qualified for such a talk as he is a full blooded Indian having been born in a teepee. The March lesson on mental health was given by Mrs Wallace Pond, she also reviewed the book "Love or Perish".

Because of inclement ^{weather} in February the Husbands' party was postponed until March 17th at which time a pot luck dinner was served to a large group of members and friends. Mrs Gus Reikes showed pictures of her tour of Europe. April brought a group of Boise Little Theatre players including our own member Mrs Rebecca Wright who presented two playettes which were enjoyed immensely. Election of officers was held following an informative discussion on "What Women Should Know" by Mrs Hedges. Those to be installed at the June meeting are: Mrs Mildred Botkin, President. Mrs Faye Creason, Vice-president, Mrs Wanda Lounsbury, Secretary. Mrs Elma Veach Assistant-secretary. Mrs Viola Moore Treasurer.

Fund raising projects for the year were the bi-monthly dinners for the Lion's Club, along with a number of courtesy meals served to various organizations.

Members of the Club were extended invitations by the Century Club at Nampa, Columbian Club at Boise, and the Foward Club at Caldwell. A delegation attended each.

Each year the Occident Club does many worthwhile things which are not brought to the attention of the public but which makes for a better community and a Club of which we are justly proud. Many of our own members have participated in programs not only in the Club but in the community that makes the Occident one of the outstanding organizations in Meridian. Each year is a good year because we strive for the good of all.

Occident Club Breakfast Brings Aid to Meridian III

MERIDIAN—The Occident club, Meridian's federated women's group, which provides an emergency loan service for home convalescent patients who need equipment not readily available, served their annual breakfast Thursday.

They finance this sick-room service with the breakfast, featuring sour-dough hotcakes, bacon and eggs and juices and coffee. They do not charge for the breakfast, but everyone who eats makes a freewill gift to the club.

This year's breakfast Thursday morning was on the clubhouse lawn. They served about 90 persons. The offering was generous, they reported.

The equipment on hand that the club has provided includes nine beds, eight oxygen regulators, 14 pairs of crutches and eight wheelchairs as well as many smaller items and sick room supplies.

This equipment is loaned without charge to anyone who needs and requests it.

The service was started about 15 years ago and has grown as new equipment has been acquired.

The Occident club has about 40 members who operate the public library and take part in many other civic enterprises.

Occident Club Program Honors Pioneer Women

Remember When?

Mr. Anderson was the first mayor of Meridian, and was active in attaining a dependable water supply—with the present well and water tower as a result.

Mrs. Anderson presided over a millinery shop, in a small addition on the north of the furniture store. A number of ladies still remember buying her chapeaux.

Seven of the Anderson offspring grew to maturity. Nora (Mrs. Will Palmer), Loula (Mrs. Albert Kury), Elizabeth (Mrs. Frank Norris) Frank and Will. Mrs. Pfost and Mrs. Lewis, living in Boise, are the sole surviving members of the immediate family.

Mrs. Friedline Speaks

Mrs. A. G. Friedline, daughter of Mary Pfost and Martin Burns, also reported on her forebears. She too, was in costume, modelling a wedding dress of heavily-beaded satin complete with floor-length veil.

Her grandfathers Pfost and Burns were freighters. Much of the freight came from Kelton,

*Mr. J. M. Anderson

Meridian*

Utah. Her parents were married in the Pfost home on Franklin Road, west of Meridian. It was on the first farm in the area and her grandfathers pioneered in the early effort to irrigate the virgin soil.

The sparsely-settled village the Burns moved to about 1891-92, was called "Hunter", after the man that promoted the privately-owned spur from the main line railway at Nampa. The private line to Boise was later purchased and incorporated into the system as "The Oregon Shortline."

Town Name Changed

An active, early-day fraternal group the Odd Fellows, pressed for a change in the town's name from "Hunter" to "Meridian". The geographical designation won out when Meridian was officially incorporated.

One of the first dances drew such a crowd that the sponsors had to wait until some of the guests dispersed to their homes before the dance could start. It is not recorded what the dancers did during the lull before the dance.

Mrs. Friedline has written a book "Generations" (Caxton), giving her family history in informal story form.

Three children, Waldo Burns (Oregon) Mrs. Frank (Elsie) Haasch, (Boise) and Mrs. Friedline, survive.

Pioneers Recall Early Days

Speakers and special guests were native daughters of pioneer Meridianites. Mrs. L. E. Gray introduced the guests; Mrs. Emmitt Pfost (Bess Anderson); Mrs. Marshall Lewis (Jewell Anderson) and Mrs. A. G. Friedline (Apal Burns).

Mrs. Pfost represented the Anderson family, and spoke of the trek made by her parents, Mr. and Mr. J. M. Anderson, across the plains in a covered wagon drawn by oxen, in 1876. Two small children, Nora (Palmer) and Will, accompanied the parents, and a third, Loula, was born the January following their arrival in Boise Valley, October of 1876.

Mr. Anderson was elected treasurer of Ada County about 1892, after a horse-and-buggy campaign. When his term was up he moved his growing family to a sage-covered 80 acres 1½ miles north of Meridian. The family cleared and burned the brush.

He bought 10 acres from John Wilburn and erected a building on the corner of Broadway and Meridian streets. The first furniture store in Meridian, it is now the Legion hall, having been moved several feet west of the original site.

Mr. Anderson handled the first funeral supplies, and performed the customary chores of the modern mortuary. A coffin, as opposed to a "casket", was a narrow, tapered and unlined box.

Some interesting facts of a pioneer family.

Pioneer Motif Followed

The table setting and the refreshments carried out the theme "Pioneer Days". Cornbread muffins were served from a cast iron dutch oven, along with butter, jelly and coffee. The butter dish, property of Mrs. Bert Rose, was a family heirloom, the wedding present of the Rev. and Mrs. Birrell Lee. The Rev. Lee, a Civil War chaplain, was the brother of General Robert E. Lee.

The tablecloth was a bright red plaid, lighted by kerosene lamps, centered with a floral arrangement in novel ironstone containers.

Many interesting heirlooms were displayed of Pioneer Days in Meridian.

The Meridian Occident Club honored area pioneers in a special program Monday, October 7.

Adding pioneer atmosphere in their costumes that were heirlooms of the early-day era were club members Zelma Rose, Oral Coleman, Bessie Macham, Dean Ulmer and Carol Benjamin.

The Mmes. Ralph Lane, Frank Hudson, Jess Hedges, Fred Rosti, and Frank Matcham will be the committee in charge.

Occident Club Names Weiser Delegates

Mrs. Jess Hedges, Mrs. Fred Rosti, and Mrs. Frank Matcham were elected delegates for the Weiser Convention at the Occident Club meeting, Monday, April 7.

Guest speaker was Professor A. J. Finkbeinder of Nampa, who lectured on fine arts.

Mmes. Archie Scrivner, Mable Cairns, D. R. Howell, Virgil Smith, and Elmer Ross were hostesses.

Providing further pioneer color, Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Hostetler of Boise loaned two antique cars from their collection of "horseless carriages". One was a 1932 Pierce-Arrow sedan, originally purchased by the pioneer Eastman family of Boise. The other was a cream and blue Essex, vintage 1919, beautifully restored with custom-made top and leather upholstery—and which purred along like a contented cougar at 40-45 miles per hour.

Club Reports Given

Club president, Mrs. V. R. Botkin, conducted a business session preceding the program. Members heard a report from the committee in charge of the Emergency Loan Closet and the library. The committee said the equipment, offered as a free service, was in great demand, and was in almost constant circulation. The library committee reported the popularity of this effort, and urged members to take out loan cards.

Harold Cox gave a brief talk on the urgent need for Den Mothers in the Scout movement, and invited club members to lend a hand in filling that need. It was suggested that the members not able to take an active part in this could serve as baby-sitters for Den-Mothers with small children of their own.

Occident Club Issues Books

The Occident Club met Monday afternoon at their club rooms in Meridian. The new year books were distributed to the members present.

The books were designed by Mrs. Marvin Goodwin, daughter-in-law of the club's president, Mrs. Roy Goodwin.

Serving refreshments for the meeting were the Mmes. Ted Howell, Roy Goodwin, Roy Stuart, and Mabel Cairns.

Meridian Library

The Meridian Library is an organized library and belongs to the State Association of Librarians. It is open each Tuesday and Friday, and on Friday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. Anyone in Meridian or surrounding territory is eligible to use the library. The card fee is ten cents per year for grade school students and fifty cents for adults.

The Meridian library had its origin in the Occident Club. Years ago a few books were gathered together and kept in the Songer Drug Store. Certain days each week a member of the Occident Club would volunteer to act as librarian. Later the books were kept in the City Hall, and when the Occident Club secured its present building, the library was moved into its present location and was so organized and indexed as to make it eligible to receive assistance from the city. It now receives a very small levy. The only other financial aid is what is collected from fines for past due books and receipts from cards of users. After the necessary maintenance charges are taken out there is practically nothing left with which to purchase books or magazines.

Meridian Joins Library Salute

By proclamation of Mayor Don Storey, Meridian will join communities through the nation in observance of Library Week, March 16-22.

Governor Robert E. Smylie has also issued a proclamation, setting the period aside as Library Week for the State of Idaho.

In his proclamation, Gov. Smylie said: "The history of our Western civilization and its magnificent contribution to human dignity and liberty shines from the pages of books and manuscripts that have become the working tool of freedom, wherever freedom is loved."

In his local proclamation, Mayor Storey urged community participation in the event, through more active use of the city library.

The library, at Idaho and Meridian streets, is one of the major projects of the Occident club. Public librarian is Miss Ruth Cline.

Representatives of the club are planning talks at organizations to further interest in National Library Week, and have invited all area residents to visit the library in Meridian.

MRS. V. R. BOTKIN, Occident Club president, is served by Mrs. Claude Robbins, honored guest at open house at club house Sunday. Amity Club Gives Money to Groups

Community Club Aids Emergency Closet, Local Library, and Other Organizations

The Amity Neighborhood Club has given a total of $1,787.59 to the Meridian library and the emergency loan closet of the Occident Club.

The money was from a fund originally raised to build a community hall or club house for the group. When need for such a building lessened, alternate projects were adopted.

Following is a report on the disposition of the club's funds, as prepared by a representative of the group.

During the Second World War the Amity Neighborhood Club served lunches at farm auction sales and invested the proceeds in government bonds. There was no specific use designated for the money other than the purchase of war bonds.

Later it was decided that a community hall or club house would be an asset to the community and, as a building site had been offered to the club, a fund was started for that purpose. The members of the Amity Neighborhood Club served lunches at farm sales, held bazaars, gave dinners, dances and card parties, and some money was received as outright gifts toward the building fund.

Due to changing conditions during the last several years, the need for such a building has lessened and it has been decided best to abandon the building idea. Instead, the money was to be used for some worth-while project or projects which would serve the community as a whole, and which would be of benefit to those who had supported the building idea.

A tea was given honoring the ladies of the Amity Neighborhood Club who gave to the Library and Emergency Loan Closet the sum of $1,787.59.

Occident Club Thanks Donors

Members of the Amity Neighborhood Club were recent honored guests of the Occident Club.

The group was thanked by Mrs. Betty Eager, on behalf of the Meridian public library, and by Mrs. Zelma Rose, on behalf of the Emergency Loan Closet, for their recent generous donations to the two projects.

Occident Club Pays Tribute To Group for Projects Aid

MERIDIAN—Nearly 50 women gathered in the Occident club house Monday afternoon. The members honored the Amity Neighborhood club, who recently donated a large sum of money to Meridian community projects. Equipment suggested by the Amity club has been purchased for the Emergency Loan closet and it was displayed. The library displayed a table of new books including some by Idaho authors.

Dr. James Carkhuff, baritone, presented a number of Stephen Foster songs. He was accompanied by Prof. T. C. Leckie. Both men are teaching in Northwest Nazarene college in Nampa.

The hostesses were the Mmes. Jess Hedges, Roy Goodwin, Frank Jolly, O. E. Kuckenbecker, Fred Rose, Susie Cairns, Frances Veach, A. D. Scrivner and Everett Eager.

Loan Closet Program

Anyone in Meridian and surrounding communities can borrow any piece of equipment in the Loan Closet which they need in caring for the sick. There is no charge whatever for the use. The only requests are that the items be given good care and returned as soon as they are not needed, and that oxygen tanks be returned full, as they are kept ready for immediate use.

In the Loan Closet are oxygen tanks and tents, wheel chairs, crutches, hospital beds and mattresses and numerous other items. All equipment is kept at the Occident Club house. Mrs. Bert Rose, Mrs. Susie Cairns and Mrs. Roy Goodwin are the Chest committee and are on call twenty-four hours a day.

Committee Appointed

A committee was appointed last fall to investigate the report on projects. After a thorough investigation and study, the club voted unanimously to distribute the $2,162.59 in the treasury as follows:

$250.00 (of the $375 derived from the bonds which were purchased before the building fund was started) to be divided equally between organizations for cancer, heart, infantile paralysis, crippled children, multiple sclerosis, the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army. $125.00 to be kept in the club treasury for such future uses as there may be calls.

$1787.59, representing the principal and interest of the building fund—$1000.00 to be given to the Occident Club's Emergency Loan Closet in Meridian for the purchase of additional equipment; the balance, $787.59, to be given to the Meridian Library for the purchase of books, especially books of Idaho writers, and book shelving.

The equipment the club is interested in having added to the Loan Closet is patient lifter, wheel chair, and glider commode chair, both with removable arms, and a walker. Any remaining money is to be held and used for the purchase of equipment as the need arises.

The club feels that the Emergency Loan Closet and the Library are the projects which would most nearly serve the largest number of people in the Meridian district, and that the money could not be put to a better use than to apply it to the use of these two very worthwhile projects which are community wide in their service.

Pioneer Resident Recalls Meridian 50 Years Ago

(As I was a lad scarcely five years old when I came here and as I am writing this entirely from my own memory I must ask some of those who were a little older than myself and whose memory might be a bit better than mine to please excuse any errors.

—Clyde Ball)

In November, 1907, the late P. H. Snow, who was the father of Mrs. George Thomas, had a blacksmith-shop where Henry Neitzel's garage is located today.

My father, the late Charles W. Ball, walked from Nampa to Meridian along the railroad track to see Mr. Snow about a job shoeing horses and then walked back to Nampa along the same route.

The next day we moved into a little three-room house that was painted pink, located on the same property where Mr. and Mrs. John McNeff are living today. The folks were only looking for a place to locate, but as fate would have it they found quite a permanent location for me.

As I recall Meridian that day it was just a village and a rather small one at that, of some 400 souls. It reached from where the Christian church is located on the north to where the Henry Carter's live on the west, to the old Atwater property on the south and a straight line from the Clayton Freytag's to the Carl Neuman's would very well describe the eastern boundary.

There was no city water system and no electric power service. There was just one block of cement sidewalk, from Kernens's Variety Store to the Drug Center, all the rest were either board walks or just planks strung along. There were no paved streets and in the spring of the year the mud was knee deep (or deeper) on the tallest Indian that ever came to town.

As I can recall the older folks talking, the chief topics of conversation were: The sinking of the battleship Maine, the assassination of President McKinley and Governor Stuenburg, the Japs knocking out the Russian Fleet at Port Arthur, the San Francisco fire,

If I am leaving anyone out of this category I am extremely sorry, and if I may be reminded I shall make correction later. Of the more than 400 people who lived right in town on that day I arrived here, there seems to be only 20 left.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Champlin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Della Tolleth, Mable Cairns, Ira Vorhees, Loah Adams, Shad Clarke, Elsie Peer, Wanita Hatfield, Frank Matchum, Robert French, Alice Freytag, Matt Anderson, Meda Whiteley, Rebecca Louderbough, Bob Huish, Winton Peer, and Edith Crockett.

There is another group that, while they haven't actually lived here in town, they have lived so close that they seem to be a part of Meridian. In this group I would like to mention: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Robison, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Beery, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baldwin, Will Snyder, Ada Ball, Jess Hedges, Emma Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Waggoner, Ina Overton, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wolfe, the Hudsons, Egberts, Rambos, Evans, Maddens, Mrs. Esther Hardin, and probably some others that I don't recall at this writing.

There is still another group which, undoubtedly, is worthy of mention; the Andersons, Palmers, Decks, Reynolds, Helms, Turners, first in the new building before it was hardly finished. There was just one other church, the Christian, it was located at or about its present location and I believe Rev. J. H. McSparran was minister.

The first, second and third grades of school were in an old four-room two-story building, which had been through quite too many winters, was located between the new Mason building and Keller's Market. The teachers were Hester M. Spackmann, Ethel Tolleth and Nellie Tolleth, and my "Grandma" Helm did the janitor work.

The old Bank of Meridian Ltd. was in the building that is occupied by the Elite Cleaners, but the only one I can remember as being connected with it is Howard Davison.

Dr. C. L. Dutton had his office at the same location as the Rice Pharmacy but the building has been remodeled considerably since.

Favorite Playground

The space between the cleaners and the drug store was the scene of some of the happiest moments I ever spent in Meridian and which were eventually to come to the saddest ending. That was indeed an ideal spot for our games of "kid baseball" but after a very few years a man named Ed Mathews came to Meridian and of all places to put a blacksmith shop he picked our "baseball park".

The prints of the horseshoes are still in the walk in front of the Idaho Power office, I suppose, to stay there forever as grim reminders that our playground was gone forever. Sometimes as I pass by that spot I am rather happy that I am the only one of the old gang who must walk over those prints and be reminded, all the others are gone from here.
